PREFACE

It gives us immense pleasure to present the Proceedings of the One-Day International Seminar on “Changing Voices and Evolving Roles: Gender, Language, Literature, Society and Psychology in the Contemporary World”, organized by the S3R Research and Academic Forum in association with S3R Education & Welfare Trust on 23 May 2026 through virtual mode.

The seminar brought together academicians, researchers, scholars, educators, students, and professionals from diverse disciplines to discuss contemporary issues related to gender, language, literature, society, psychology, and allied fields. The event provided an interdisciplinary platform for intellectual exchange, critical reflection, and scholarly collaboration.

The papers included in this volume were submitted by researchers from different institutions and underwent preliminary editorial screening before inclusion in the proceedings. The contributions reflect contemporary academic concerns, emerging research trends, and innovative perspectives on social, linguistic, literary, educational, and psychological issues.

We sincerely thank all keynote speakers, presenters, session chairs, reviewers, participants, and members of the organizing committee for their valuable support and contribution to the success of this seminar.

We hope that this proceedings volume will serve as a useful academic resource for researchers, educators, students, and professionals interested in contemporary interdisciplinary scholarship.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The organizers express their sincere gratitude to all keynote speakers, invited experts, paper presenters, session chairs, reviewers, academicians, researchers, students, and participants for their valuable contributions and active participation in the seminar.

We also acknowledge the support and guidance provided by the members of S3R Research and Academic Forum and S3R Education & Welfare Trust in successfully organizing the event and publishing these proceedings.

Their collective efforts have contributed significantly to the success of this international academic event.

Dr. Vipin K. Sharma

MESSAGE FROM THE CONVENERS

Academic conferences and seminars play a significant role in promoting research culture, scholarly dialogue, and interdisciplinary understanding. The present international seminar was conceived with the objective of providing a common platform for researchers and academicians to explore the changing dynamics of gender, language, literature, society, and psychology in the contemporary world.

The enthusiastic participation of scholars from various institutions and disciplines demonstrates the growing importance of collaborative and interdisciplinary research. The papers presented during the seminar address contemporary challenges, emerging social realities, linguistic developments, literary representations, educational transformations, and psychological concerns shaping modern society.

We express our sincere gratitude to all participants, keynote speakers, reviewers, organizing committee members, and well-wishers whose support contributed to the successful conduct of the seminar.

We are pleased to present this proceedings volume as a permanent scholarly record of the academic deliberations and research contributions shared during the seminar.
